U.S. Marine Corps F-35B Lightning II's with Marine Fighter Attack Squadron (VMFA) 121 fly near Mt. Fuji, Japan, March 23, 2022. Marines with Marine Aerial Refueler Transport Squadron 152 supported Marines with VMFA-121 during a training flight simulating close air support at Camp Fuji, Japan. Marine Corps aviation routinely conducts training throughout the region to remain combat-ready in support of a free and open Indo-Pacific and to demonstrate our commitment to the Treaty of Mutual Cooperation and Security between the U.S. and Japan.
